

Jeffrey Morales, Assistant Inspector General for Investigations

Jeff Morales joined the CNCS-OIG in 2004 as a Senior Special Agent, becoming the Deputy Assistant Inspector General for Investigations in 2009 and the Assistant Inspector General for Investigations in 2017. Jeff has more than 20 years of experience in federal law enforcement, where his expertise has saved the government millions of dollars. Mr. Morales started his law enforcement career as a Special Agent with the United States Army Criminal Investigation Command, where he investigated General Crimes, Drug Suppression and Economic Crimes, and was also detailed as a Mission Special Agent in Charge for the security of the Secretary of Defense. Mr. Morales is a graduate of the American Military University with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice.